

Going Full-Throttle

by: The Rev. Chasity L. Wiener

I had to recover my wool coat from the depths of my closet this morning. And, while this might be quite ordinary any other day, this seems rather newsworthy in these early days of June. My body yearns for sunshine and warm weather and—waking up to bitter cold and dampness—my body was in a state of shock walking the dogs in temperatures in the upper forties.

I am grateful, however, that it seems like Maryland is having its first “true” season of spring in a long time. As a life-long Marylander, it seems like just as we emerge excitedly from our winter, and we have only a week of transitional temps before someone flips a switch and turns on the summer heat. Spring seems to never really get her proper place in Maryland.

...but, we need Spring...because we need spring’s transitions.

- * Our pasty bodies, covered in layers of clothing, need time to adjust to the nakedness of being in the bright sun.
- * The earth, dormant but gestating, needs warming, rainy weather to birth.
- * Our spirits, who have slumbered in the rigors of working and routines, are aroused by the anticipation of summer sabbath and retreat.

Things are winding up, so that—in the summer—they might just wind down, or change course. Our foot presses the gas of acceleration in full throttle of our busy lives, that we need time to slow down the motion. God knew this about ourselves. Our bodies are unable to rest when our senses are assaulted by the over-stimulation of the mind. Ergo, our spirit is unable to commune with God when our minds and bodies are restless and unfocused. God knows that this is a need in our design, which is why Sabbath had to be commanded instead of merely suggested.

Sabbath comes from the Hebrew verb Shabbat and primarily means “to cease or desist.” Observing a Sabbath not only means to cease from work itself, but also to cease that internal chatter within us that says, “DO MORE!” and drives our need to accomplish and be (over) productive. Sabbath is a time to distance ourselves from our own activities enough to see what God is doing in the world and in our lives.

In observing the Sabbath, we are not just binging on Netflix and obstinately refusing to “adult” today. Rather, we do things that might “retune” our bodies, minds, and spirit to better hear how God is working through us and in us. Sabbath, then, is reserved for transformation.

Given that the unofficial start to summer is upon us (despite what spring temps are still reminding us!), there are natural pauses built into the season. Utilize them. Start with them—then, try to refine your sabbath keeping to a weekly practice.

Happy Sabbath keeping,

Pastor Chas

P.S. Wherever your summer plans find you, be sure to use that space for God. One way to participate in the activities is “The Mason Jar Devotion.” See page 2 for an opportunity that describes how we can “Share, Read, Talk, Pray, and Bless” daily around the dinner table or whenever your family gathers.

Mason Jar Devotions

Welcome to your Faith5 Mason Jar Devotions! The process is simple: SHARE highs and lows from the day. READ a bible verse. TALK about an idea related to the bible verse. PRAY together, and BLESS each other! To help you engage FAITH5 at home, place your jar in a convenient spot—on the dinner table or in the car. Then, once a day pull out a slip of paper and grab folks to engage in the conversation. Spend 5 minutes a day for one month to engage your household about faith, and you will be amazed how God shows up in those moments together.

Forward Together

by Rev. Bob Ridenour

God is calling us to move forward together in all aspects of our lives as individuals, and as the church.

This was the theme of the annual assembly of MD-DE Synod of the ELCA, 2018.

Several members of HCLC—Pastor Chas, Margaret Frieman, and myself as elected representatives of HCLC—plus other members and clergy (over 500 in all) heard inspiring speakers address the topic of the future of the church. We addressed several local and national issues (public education, gun violence, the opioid crisis, and the Israeli-Palestinian conflict among others). We also did other work of the church (budgets, reports) and enjoyed the words of the bishop with his humor, faith, and grace.

Many good and faithful suggestions and information was offered to strengthen the work and faithfulness of the local churches (like HCLC). These will be shared with the wider membership as the year progresses. All in all, the assembly was very fruitful for those of us who attended, and with God's power and grace it will be so for us all.

Thanks to all for the privilege of representing HCLC. Feel free to approach pastor, or any of us, for more information.

Member Spotlight

by Jan Warren

What brought you to HCLC?

"12 years ago we were hunting for Bible Study groups. I saw an ad in the Baltimore Sun. We showed up and were welcomed with open arms. We felt we had found a family. God works in wonderful ways – I had never read that section in the Sun before and have not since – God has a plan."

What do you see as your gifts to serve God, God's people, and the church?

"I am a good organizer and planner. I have helped raise money for church projects with Extravaganzas & organized several functions such as Thanksgiving in February. I try to help where needed – Sharing Table, VBS, etc. I believe that all people are created equal, we all need to share friendship, help those in need & try to reveal God's teachings by our actions. Kindness is contagious. The children are our future we need to show them that kindness, love & friendship is the norm. I really believe "Reaching out to share Christ's love" should be our aim in life. This is what Dave and I found in this church."

Favorite ice cream flavor?

"Black Raspberry, Raspberry Swirl, Butter Brickell, Peach"

What is something people may be surprised to know about you?

"I have always loved helping others. I volunteered wherever whenever. I ran a Girl Scout Day Camp for 250 girls ages 6 to 12 for a week for 2 summers on the Patuxent River in Laurel near the mill. You will never know how many times I pretended to drown so one of the girls could pull me out and not get pulled in with me. "Hi Flame" was my camp name!"

What bible verse is meaningful to you?

"Growing up a Catholic we never studied the Bible, now it is so new to me I don't have favorite. But my mom was church organist, so I grew up in the choir. I was a music major in college. The music is what speaks to me. The Holy Communion window really leads me to God, those light rays radiating from the Host pointing to heaven give me chills."

How do you serve at HCLC?

"I was chair of the first Finance committee and I am still on the Finance Committee. Dave and I were treasurer for 3 years. Organized the inventory of the church. I ran 2 Extravaganzas and chaired the Thanksgiving in Feb. I try to help when and where needed."

Exercise

by: Barb Huber

Do you exercise? Regular moderate exercise is important for overall health. Exercise and physical activity helps control weight and reduces personal risk of strokes, heart disease, high blood pressure, high cholesterol, and diabetes.

Individuals should attempt to get between 30 and 60 minutes of exercise every day. What? You do not have thirty minutes; research has shown that shorter amounts of exercise, for example ten minutes three times a day can also benefit your health. Household activities also count, like gardening, cleaning and walking the dog. Small changes can impact your health; using the stairs and parking your car at the end of the parking lot. Strive to increase your duration and frequency of exercise for maximum benefit.

Beginning an exercise program will: strengthen your heart, improve circulation. Increase energy levels and endurance, decrease blood pressure, increase muscle tone and strength, improve balance, build stronger bones, improve sleep and reduce stress.

Always consult your physician before beginning an exercise program!

Remember to include all types of exercises in your program.

-Stretching- lengthens your muscles and prepares them for exercise. Improves flexibility and range of motion, and prevents injury.

-Aerobic- a steady physical activity like walking, running, swimming, bicycling, and skating. Aerobic exercise strengthens your heart and lungs.

-Strengthening- repeated muscle contractions until muscle becomes tired. Weight lifting.

All exercise sessions should include a warm up (stretching), conditioning (running etc), and cool down (slow down activity and include stretching).

Do you have trouble sticking to an exercise plan? Find an activity you enjoy, decide whether you prefer working alone or with a group, find an exercise buddy. When exercising always stay hydrated and avoid exercise outside when it is too hot, humid or cold. Check your local parks and recreation centers, look for exercise programs on cable, check your local malls for walking programs. Have fun, get up and get moving.

With blessings,

Barb Huber RN, CSRN, FCHN

Celebrating the Time After Pentecost

by: Pastor Richard Kiesling

The Church Year is divided roughly into two sections: the Festival Half (Christmas, Easter, and Pentecost) and the Time of Pentecost. While God must always be at the heart and center of all we say and do as a people of God in this time of Pentecost, the focus shifts from God's actions to our response of faith.

For it is faith that we want to share and promote with others. We are not out to celebrate our particular likes or dislikes, traditions or customs, or (to put it bluntly) how wonderful we are and how lucky God is to have us! As always, God is the beginning and the ending of all we are to seek to accomplish as a people of faith..

For faith is something that is to be shown. We are not so much to speak of faith as to let it infect our whole being for the purpose of infecting others with the joy, peace, love, and hope that God has given us—and he asked us to pass on so that the whole world might be wrapped up in God's grace.

That is why the color for this season of the Church Year is green: green is the color of growing things. Sometimes the lawn seems to grow so fast—after all, it seems just like yesterday you mowed it! Life is a gift from God, nurtured by God, blessed by God, and given the energy to grow. Sunday morning is not to be the only time we think of God! The Children of Israel we told to speak of the things of God in the morning, noontide, and evening—whether they are standing, sitting, or laying down—in short to find in every moment and task that we do from day to day the living [green] wonder of God's love.

So, we are not talking about doing something on our own abilities, taking the credit and accepting all the praise. Without God and the remembrance of what God has done [the Festival Half of the Church Year] is what will inspire, motivate, and enable us to be God's people of faith.

Every Sunday is a time to gather and worship God, rejoice in his Word, celebrate the Sacraments, and show our living, vibrant, and active faith. Have a happy and joyous time of Pentecost.

Sunday School News

by: Larry Phillips

My wife and I recently visited the Southwest of our beloved country. For the first time in our lives we saw the Grand Canyon, Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park, Lake Powell, Bryce Canyon National Park and Zion National Park. What a breathe-taking experience. As part of this trip, we got to take a boat ride on Lake Powell which took us to the lower end of Antelope Slot Canyon. During this trip my wife and I got to talk in length to one of the boat's crew members, a 62 year old Navajo woman. As we talked, she told us a lot about her life as a Navajo, as a mother and as a grandmother. She has over 18 years of service with the tour company that ran the boat cruise and as a crew member, has the most experience and knowledge of Lake Powell. As a result of this longevity and knowledge of the lake, she was always tasked with training new boat pilots on how to navigate the lake. She indicated that most of the pilots are retired men with piloting experience, one in particular was in his late 70's. She laughed when she told us about her training experience with him. He had a know-it-all attitude and really didn't want to be bothered with her telling him what to do and when to do it. She thought that maybe this had something to do with her being a Native American, or maybe it was her gender, or possibly both. I told her it was none of that, I said it was because he was old and set in his ways. You know you can't teach an old dog new tricks. She laughed and enjoyed the new perspective I gave her.

A new perspective, isn't this what Christ does for us? His teachings provide us with a new perspective on how to live our lives. In the Old Testament, Mosaic law expressed what not to do through the "Thou shalt not" phrases of the Ten Commandments.

In contrast to the Mosaic law, Jesus teaches what we should be doing. In Matthew 5, Jesus' Sermon on the Mount, he teaches us about the virtues of life through the Beatitudes. Matthew 7:12 teaches us the Golden Rule; "In everything do to others as you would have them do to you; for this is the law and the prophets." When Jesus talks about the Judgment of Nations, to paraphrase Matthew 25: 31-46, as Jesus sits on his throne of glory, he will separate people from one another as a shepherd separates his sheep from the goats. Sheep on the right, goats on the left. It is the sheep on the right that will inherit the Kingdom of God. As Jesus explains, I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, I was a stranger and you welcomed me.

Matthew 5:16; In the same, let your light shine before all others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your Father in heaven. This verse is the inspiration behind one of my favorite Sunday school songs, "This Little Light of Mine."

Continued....

It is important to stress to our children what our Christian faith strives for us to be as people of faith, as people who believe in salvation from sin through accepting Christ as our savior. Sunday school exposes the tip of the iceberg when it comes to understanding the message that Christ brings to us all. It is up to us as parents, grandparents and the fortunate few great grandparents that we expose the rest of the iceberg of our Christian faith to our children.

As a side note, this will be my last article for Bread and Wine as the Sunday School Director for HCLC. Carey Dorsey will be taking over this position for the 2018-2019 Sunday school year. It has been a pleasure to serve HCLC in this capacity. I ask prayers for Carey as she takes on this new role in her faith journey. Give her the support and love you gave me as we continue our journey in teaching our children about the love of Christ.

Interfaith Walks

Please join us on one of our spring and summer Interfaith nature walks in Harford County. The walks will be co-hosted by Interfaith Partners for the Chesapeake and various partners in the region. They will take place on June 14th at 6:30 at Ladew Gardens (rescheduled date), June 23rd at 10:00AM at the Susquehannock Wildlife Center, and July 8th at 5:00pm at Eden Mill Nature Center. This will be an opportunity to enjoy nature, learn about what's happening in our local watershed, and explore actions that you and your congregation can take to protect Creation. Email bonnie@interfaithchesapeake.org or call 443-779-0349 if you have any questions or need additional information.

Why Holy Communion—Part 2

by Pastor Bob Ridenour

We have already explored two meanings of Holy Communion, but there are also several other meanings. Here are a few (I am sure you can think of others).

In no particular order:

- Luther himself tells us that the holy meal affirms that Christ dwells within all of us. Luther says that in it “Christ and all the saints will draw near you, to live, work, suffer, and die with you, and have all things in common with you.” (from Luther’s Table Talk)
- Also, as our liturgy reminds us, communion is “a foretaste of the feast to come.” It is a look forward to the new life and the new world Christ promises—and which is in the process of coming even today.
- In this sacrament we rejoice in Christ’ sacrifice for us—his broken body and spilled blood. By it we are called to sacrifice ourselves, like him, for all God’s children.
- It also reminds us that the real source of food and of drink and of life itself is ours through God’s love shown in Christ.
- As we eat and drink and share, we celebrate God’s mercy to us. We rejoice in God’s gift of grace, the forgiveness of sin.
- In Holy Communion, we are called to live as Christ lives, to follow him and love serves “the least of these,” just as Jesus did and does.

The liturgy and most of our hymns celebrate one or more of these meanings. Let us look and listen for them that on Holy Communion may be full of Christ, as may we ourselves.

Traveling? Not Feeling Well? Can’t Come to Church? Holy Communion Comes to YOU!

People get sick. People travel. We understand that and try to find new ways that you can still remain connected with our community. While you are away, join any service by watching our webcam at webcam.HolyCommunionFallston.org

This is an innovative way to connect the gifts of technology to practical faith. However, this gift of technology comes with its own limitations, in that, this webcam can never fully create the sense of community that one is part by actually being in the pews. The webcam is on for all services and only shows the front portion of the sanctuary. The webcam works on most devices (smartphones, tablets, PCs, iPhones®, and iPads®). It does not work on Amazon Kindle Fire® tablets.

Let us know if you are watching our services.

Please send comments or issues relating to the broadcast to webcam@HolyCommunionFallston.org

Dear Brother and Sisters in Christ,

I was privileged to be part of your Ministry Affirmation Review on April 28. I along with two others from the Delaware-Maryland Synod spent the day with Pastor Chas and some of your fine lay leaders learning about and reviewing the ministry of the Holy Communion. We were impressed by how many things you do well, SPECIFICALLY, HOW--as a congregation--YOU nurture faith and serve the broader community. Representatives of the community spoke glowingly of the congregation, of what a caring and giving faithful group of Christians you are.

Part of the Ministry Affirmation Review program is to help congregations look at their growing edge, and what they might do to make an even bigger impact on members and non-members.

My task as a coach in the process is to work with your pastor and others to guide the process, to keep it on track, but never to dictate any specific outcome.

Here is a little bit about me. I am a graduate of our seminary in Philadelphia (1971) and served two suburban congregations on Long Island, N.Y. before becoming the pastor of Christ Lutheran Church in the Inner Harbor-Federal Hill neighborhood of Baltimore. I served the congregation for 30 years and retired in 2012. Since I have served as interim pastor of New Hope, Columbia and St. Stephen, Arbutus. In addition, I am a capital campaign consultant for the Mission Investment Fund.

Because of my continuing work at St. Stephen I will not be with you on Sunday Mornings. Much of my coaching will be done over the phone, but I hope to meet with your lay leaders again face to face.

Know that you are in my prayers as you grow in grace and move into God's future.

Your partner in Christ Jesus,
John Sabatelli
